

Kimberly C. Redding

Kimberly C. Redding, MD, MPH currently serves as the Director of the Chronic Disease Prevention and Health Promotion Branch in the Georgia Department of Human Resources, Division of Public Health, where she provides administrative, fiscal, and clinical oversight for all chronic disease prevention and health promotion programs throughout Georgia.

She is a graduate of Howard University in Washington, D.C. and the Morehouse School of Medicine in Atlanta, Georgia. She completed residency training in Anatomic and Clinical Pathology and a fellowship in gynecological pathology at the Emory University School of Medicine in Atlanta.

She received her MPH degree in Health Policy from the Rollins School of Public Health at Emory University and completed a second residency in Public Health and Preventive Medicine at the Morehouse School of Medicine.

She is board certified in Anatomic and Clinical Pathology and board eligible in Preventive Medicine.

She is a member of the Alpha Omega Alpha Honor Medical Society, American Society of Clinical Pathologist, Georgia Public Health Association, Delta Sigma Theta Sorority Inc., and The Links Inc.

Kim and husband Eric are the proud parents of a wonderful daughter Erika (age 11). Erika is a competitive swimmer so when Kim and Eric are not busy taking Erika to swim practice and swim meets Kim enjoys, walking, bike riding, and relaxing!